28th November 1889

Dear Sirs,

We are perfectly satisfied with all your arrangements and provisions last evening. The music was good, the hall prettily decorated, supper plentiful and well served. Please send us two of the menus, we forgot to bring any away. Our numbers fell off dreadfully at the last. We found out only 88 attended. I am of course responsible, however, for 105. The champagne was a very good wine.

I shall be glad to have your account and get out of debt.

Yours truly,

(Signed) H. Mentrose
